

AITRP Fogarty Fellow Interview Application Form Instructions
Dartmouth Medical School/Boston University School of Public Health

Dear Applicant:

Thank you for your interest in the graduate training programs offered through the Dartmouth/Boston University AITRP. The first step in the application process is to complete the AITRP Fogarty Fellow Interview Application Form. Once this is received (along with the other required documents—see details below), qualified candidates will be scheduled for a personal interview. Following the interview, applications will be reviewed by the Fogarty Executive Committee and the Fogarty Training Advisory Group. This review process will identify candidates who will be asked to submit final applications for admission to specific academic training programs.

Should you have any questions about the AITRP Fogarty Fellow Interview Application Form or other application materials, please send an email to: Richard.Waddell@dartmouth.edu.

INSTRUCTIONS:

- Enter your full name including any initials.
- Enter your current job title or academic position and the name of your place of employment as appropriate. If you are currently a student, enter the name of your university.
- Enter the name and title of an individual who can serve as your “referee” or “nominator”. This is someone who can attest to your academic qualifications for the degree in which you are interested and who will be willing to write a letter of recommendation to support your application. This letter should be sent electronically within two weeks after you complete the interview application form.
- Enter your email address, as appropriate.
- Tick/check the degree program you are interested in pursuing.
- Answer each of the questions in full. Your responses will be helpful in assessing your career interests and general qualifications. There are no space or word limits for your responses to these questions.
- Instructions on downloading/saving/submitted forms can be found under “General Application Instructions” given on the Degree Training Programs page.
- Please do not complete an academic program application form until you are so instructed by the Fogarty Executive Committee. If the Graduate Record Examination (GRE) is required, you will be given instructions on how to arrange testing.

You should send this form and a curriculum vitae to: Richard.Waddell@dartmouth.edu.
